WHAT'S THIS ABOUT?

PRISCM is a developing congregation-based community organization in southern and central Maryland committed to work for social justice and the development of strong, dynamic communities of faith.

Wading into the public arena in an effective way is neither easy, nor is it for the timid. Taking on issues that unite people of faith in a powerful manner, and that strengthen congregation in the process, requires certain attitudes and disciplines which we will dig into at this workshop.

Participants will come away with a clearer understanding of these attitudes and disciplines, as well as the PRISCM plan for the coming year and how their congregations can play a vital role.

Advance registration is required. A free will offering for lunch will be suggested.
